Dear Enviren,

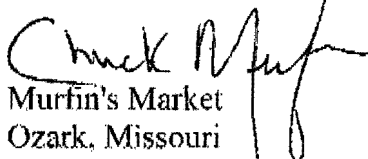

When it comes to making a difference in our communities, we must at some point in our lives experience the satisfaction of seeing our contributions and services at work. The compelling question is how can we combine our contributions and make the greatest impact on the most pressing issues?

One of our community responsibilities is to give back to the people we serve. Murfin's Market believes that through our combined support of various small businesses involving sanitation issues we can have a positive impact. This is why we have partnered with Enviren to address the issues of sanitation improvement and disease prevention.

Enviren helps bring resources together to focus on the key problems and issues that affect our communities. Together we can make a difference. This is why we are joining efforts with Enviren because we know that our services will make the greatest impact possible. Our personal commitment to Enviren will go a long way to help people and businesses in need right here in our communities.

Please join us in making this effort a successful one. Thank you for the mutual support we share.

Sincerely,
